

St Jude's Online Safety Newsflash

New UKCCIS Framework Education for a connected world

Learning is for life but the consequences of ineffective online safety can be too. The challenge of keeping up to date whilst predicting and meeting the needs of our children and young people's safety online remains, or does it?

In a bid to bring guidance to schools and be part of the solution, UKCCIS (UK Centre for Child Internet Safety) have released a framework: Education for a connected world in response. UKCCIS is a government body consisting of over 200 organisations drawn from across government, industry, law, academia and charity sectors working in partnership to help keep children safe online.

The framework makes interesting reading: find it here

