

St Jude's C of E Primary School's Subject Stories English

Intent

Here at St Jude's we have a passion for high quality teaching and learning of English. We believe that every child can succeed in reading and writing, and we aim to instil this belief in the children themselves. It is our intention that learning is relevant to our children through our commitment to a diverse English curriculum. We have carefully chosen texts in English and reading lessons as well as class novel choices.

The national curriculum for English requires that all pupils:

- read easily, fluently and with good understanding
- develop the habit of reading widely and often, for both pleasure and information
- acquire a wide vocabulary, an understanding of grammar and knowledge of linguistic conventions for reading, writing and spoken language
- appreciate our rich and varied literary heritage
- write clearly, accurately and coherently, adapting their language and style in and for a range of contexts, purposes and audiences
- use discussion in order to learn; they should be able to elaborate and explain clearly their understanding and ideas
- are competent in the arts of speaking and listening, making formal presentations, demonstrating to others and participating in debate.

Implementation

Reading:

Reading is taught as a whole class session, borrowing from the principles for Teaching for Mastery in mathematics. Every child from Year 2 upwards experiences a daily reading lesson and all children access the same text. Children in Reception and Year 1 classes continue to read in small groups to allow for decoding practice. Whole class reading allows all children to develop a deep understanding of the text that they are reading, the layout of the text and the language used within the text. The learning needs of every child are met through pre-teaching of vocabulary and the use of the same text for a week. Reading Roles (created by Aidan Severs) are used to highlight reading strategies to children; a single strategy is the focus of each reading session though others may be used to support learning of that strategy.

In Early Years and Key Stage 1 a rigorous programme of phonics is followed in order to provide children with decoding and spelling skills that help them as they move up the school. We follow the Letters and Sounds phonics teaching document.

Writing:

Writing is focussed around a key, high-quality text and taught in a three-phase structure. This allows children to immerse themselves in the text, then build on key skills using the text to support and inspire and finally leading to an independent outcome. Children are exposed to a range of text types throughout their school life. It is vital that our children are able to write for a range of purposes and in a range of styles. Quality first teaching is supported by focussed resources and working walls within the classroom.

We understand that reading, writing and oracy are closely linked and, as such, ensure that children are given opportunities to practise and refine all three areas of English during the school day.

Children are given English homework weekly at St Jude's – a spelling activity will be provided alongside a grammar activity, linking to the learning done in class that week and encouraging the children to practise and embed their skills further.

- ✓ Our English curriculum and the teaching strategies we employ have promoted progress in our attainment scores in KS1 and KS2 since 2016. As seen in the tables above, overall we have made progress to be performing above national averages and in some areas above Lambeth averages.
- ✓ Monitoring of staff lesson design shows strong evidence of staff subject knowledge and teacher modelling of writing.
- ✓ All learning is matched appropriately to the age group being taught.
- ✓ Our pupils' work in books consistently shows evidence of opportunities for applying skills in a range of purposes for writing.
- ✓ Children are prepared year on year for the next step in their writing and reading education.
- ✓ Implementation of whole class reading sessions have had a positive impact on progress and outcomes in KS2.

Our Diverse Curriculum

As a school, we are passionate that our children receive a broad, balanced, inclusive and diverse curriculum. We have developed anti-racist commitments, and endeavour to fulfil these in every curriculum area, including English. Within this subject, we will ensure:

- Diverse texts are used to support learning in reading and English sessions.
- There are a range of diverse books in classroom libraries which include information books which celebrate key figures.
- Children are given exposure to diverse characters, writers and illustrators through our selection in classroom libraries.
- Time in the school calendar is designated to celebrate significant figures in history who have contributed to the knowledge and understanding of mathematics. These celebrations will include a diverse range of people, including different ethnicities, genders and cultural backgrounds.
- Other opportunities are utilised to explore, promote and celebrate diverse figures, such as Family Learning Projects, Home Learning activities, newsletter items, Twitter posts, World Book Day, Science Week, and local community events.

Outstanding examples of learning outcomes and English at St Jude's

English lessons are exciting and engaging and children are given purpose for their writing.

A visit from Ernest Shackleton!

Children practise a range of skills in English lessons. We carry out debates and retell stories in creative ways.

English has a high profile and is displayed around the school.

Remote Learning

Whilst children are learning remotely, the following approaches are taken to ensure English teaching and learning is consistent and of a high quality:

- English lessons are planned daily and uploaded to the Google Classroom
- Resources are planned and designed carefully to support the learning objective each day
- Google Forms are designed to assess key areas of grammar
- Lessons include opportunities to review prior learning
- The use of videos provide clear and concise explanations of key terminology and modelled examples
- Word mats are provided to support children with using ambitious word choices
- Teachers plan Spelling or grammar lessons weekly
- Children upload their work at least once a week to receive feedback.

- ☺ Teachers are confident in the delivery of lessons, both whole class reading and teaching of writing – teachers' feedback from PDMs very positive and enthusiastic - where appropriate the English Lead provided support to key members of staff in planning.
- ☺ A revamp of book displays in class libraries across the school to promote the culture of reading for pleasure
- ☺ New books for EYFS and KS1 decodable reading books
- ☺ Enrichment activities to promote reading and writing for pleasure: exposure to diverse authors from World Book Day messages, sharing stories made by the children with different year groups, school book fair and World Book Day
- ☺ A range of moderation activities throughout the year both in-school and cluster wide
- ☺ Diverse texts are being used to support learning and being shared as a class novel
- ☺ English Lead has monitored remote learning closely and feedback has been given to all staff.

Priorities for 2020 - 2021

- ⊙ CPD opportunities – embedding grammar in teaching; strong subject knowledge of grammar; raising standards in writing
- ⊙ Attainment and progress in writing to be a key focus this year
 - Progress of groups to be closely monitored
- ⊙ To ensure spelling accuracy is consistent across the school through introduction of No Nonsense Spelling
- ⊙ To ensure diverse texts are being used to support learning at least once a half term in reading or English lessons
- ⊙ To broaden the diverse reading opportunities across KS2 libraries
